

Audit and Accounting

“Accounting is the language of business”

A quote made famous by Warren Buffett, which certainly seemed to bear fruit for his businesses.

It is an overall view that failure is in high probability when an entrepreneur has poor understanding concerning accounting. As professionals we strive to educate the entrepreneurs of South Africa about the importance of accounting and therefore easing their everyday burden. At ohada zone we know entrepreneurs have immense responsibility in making intelligent, promising financial decisions for their businesses, to ensure success. In knowing this we can put our expertise to work on providing your business with a top-quality accounting service to reduce those responsibilities and expand your knowledge to improve your financial decisions.

Financial

Planning

"Your financial statement is your report card after you leave school. It measures how smart you are financially."

In knowing the financial position your business finds itself in as well as the financial strength your business has, you as entrepreneur can make profitable decisions for the future. Financial statements is a convenient tool to assess your financial stability, track your financial progress, provide early warning signs, help you estimate the accountability and supply you with a foundation for predictions.

Taxes

With the famous word of Margaret Mitchell

“Death, taxes and childbirth! There’s never any convenient time for any of them.”

Cannot be disagreed. There is no denying that stomach clenched feeling that can be experienced when it is tax season. This feeling of anxiety is not necessarily because of our political views concerning this subject but for the reason that we are uneducated in this field.

At ohada zone we understand your time is extremely valuable as well as you don’t have time to be nervous about methods to determine taxes. It is our enthusiasm to educate and aid you in tax related subjects.
